Latest fund report

In July, Danske Invest SICAV - SIF Fixed Income Global Value Class C-sek h p provided a return of 0.29%. Year to date the return is -17.00%. Since inception in June 2018, the portfolio has provided a return of 11.62%.

Risk sentiment has stabilised over the summer with equities bouncing and credit spreads off YtD highs. Commodity prices have fallen as economic indicators are pointing towards a slowdown in activity. Inflation is still too high for central banks to pause the hiking cycle but the pressure for even bigger interest rate increases seem to be fading.

Market focus in H2 will remain on how central banks will navigate the recession risk vs the risk of inflation hovering above targets. Financial conditions tightened significantly in H1, however the bounce equities is raising the question whether central bank policy is restrictive enough to dampen growth and inflation. Uncertainty and volatility is set to remain high. During July, market liquidity improved slightly but this year has shown that it does not take much for volatility to spike again and liquidity to deteriorate.

Most credit spreads, including higher rated emerging markets, recovered slightly in July. Meanwhile sovereign credit spreads in the Euro Area remained supported by ECB's QE flexibility. Italy in particular have been supported as political risk is on the rise after Mario Draghi stepped down as Prime Minister. These developments have in combination lead to a small positive return in the fund during July.

Activity in the EUR fixed income market is traditionally very low in August with almost no new issuance. Looking ahead, activity will pick up in September which high volatility is set to provide opportunities

At the end of July, the portfolio risk level (in terms of Value-at-Risk) is 20% below our maximum risk limit, which is roughly unchanged compared to last month but at a very high level compared to the risk utilisation historically in this fund. We are seeing many opportunities across markets, which we are pursuing. We expect risk utilisation in the fund to remain roughly unchanged but we are ready to change the funds composition of risk depending on the opportunities that may arise in the coming months.

Historical returns are no reliable indicator of future returns. It should be noted that monthly returns (in per cent) are non-additive.
