ESG investment restrictions explained

A fund with ESG restrictions is not allowed to invest in companies that are involved in certain business activities. For instance, none of Danske Invest's funds may invest in companies deriving 30% or more of their revenue from coal. The restriction criteria for this specific fund is outlined in the section below.

Important information:

- Danske Invest continuously updates its ESG data, this can lead to new companies becoming restricted as well as restricted companies being opened for investments.
- Funds may not be exposed to any restricted companies in their investment universe and thus be unaffected by the ESG restrictions.
- For Fund-of-funds, restrictions may not apply to externally managed funds (not managed by Danske Invest).

Investment policy

The fund invests mainly in long and short positions in European equities. To a small extent, the fund may invest in equities from developed countries outside Europe. In actively managing the fund's portfolio, the management team uses a long-short strategy, taking long exposure to equities it believes will increase in price and short exposure to equities it believes will decline in price or offset the volatility of its long positions. The fund may use derivatives for hedging and efficient portfolio management, as well as for investment purposes. The main part of the share class' NAV will be hedged against the base currency of the fund. However, the share class remains exposed to the currencies of the investments in the fund.
